Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurThis is a new, revised version of the original book, and many of the sections have been divided to make them shorter. Some of the longer sections have been split in two, with questions from English to French presented first and those from French to English following them in a separate section. The answers now appear at the end of each section, making navigation much easier. The 1001 multiple choice questions have been designed for learners of the French language to test their knowledge of vocabulary and grammar. Vocabulary topics include travel, leisure, shopping, medical problems, money, school, technology, weather and abbreviations. The revised version also includes sections on greeting, work and families. The grammar section covers aspects such as adjectives, adverbs, pronouns and prepositions, and there is an extensive section on verbs that includes all the main tenses. Students, tourists and expats living in French-speaking countries will all find topics of interest here. There is also an interactive table of contents to assist in navigation.
