

(Library ebook) File size: 21.Mb

I Share My Heart With Africa: A Journey Like No Other (English Edition)

Par Denise Carnihan

DOC / *audiobook | ebooks | Download
PDF | ePub

Dtails sur le produit Publi le: 2015-11-24
Sorti le: 2015-11-24
Format: Ebook
Kindle

(Library ebook) I Share My Heart With Africa: A Journey Like No Other (English Edition)

Par Denise Carnihan : I Share My Heart With Africa: A Journey Like No Other (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised I Share My Heart With Africa: A Journey Like No Other (English Edition):

Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurLittle did Kiwi woman Denise Carnihan know that what started as her sons school project on family origins would result in visiting her newly discovered family in South Africa in 2009, and lead her and her family on a completely different life journey, culminating in building a fully functioning school in a poor region of Kenya in 2011.Inspired by her initial adventure, Denise decided to do a volunteer stint at an orphanage in Kenya, and after witnessing the poverty and squalor firsthand, she understood the enormous importance of education in this developing country.Wouldnt it be cool if we could build a little school in a big slum for, say, fifty kids? was the comment she made to her husband, Chris, when they both returned to Kenya the following year. Incredibly, this became the reality for Denise and Chris Carnihan from a small coastal town in New Zealand. They thenstumbled head-first into building and establishing their very own primary school in a large slum, opening with not fifty children as planned but 117. Within eighteen months the roll had grown to 380+ children and twelve staff. Denise talks passionately about her love for Africa and her beautiful African journey. She describes candidly the joys, the immense satisfaction, and the overwhelming drive needed to persevere, together with the enormous challenges, battles,and frustrations in establishing a project in a slum of Kenya, where communication and culture operate in extremes.Prsentation de l'diteurLittle did Kiwi woman Denise Carnihan know that what started as her sons school project on family origins would result in visiting her newly discovered family in South Africa in 2009, and lead her and her family on a completely different life journey, culminating in building a fully functioning school in a poor region of Kenya in 2011.Inspired by her initial adventure, Denise decided to do a volunteer stint at an orphanage in Kenya, and after witnessing the poverty and squalor firsthand, she understood the enormous importance of education in this developing country. Wouldnt it be cool if we could build a little school in a big slum for, say, fifty kids? was the comment she made to her husband, Chris, when they both returned to Kenya the following year. Incredibly, this became the reality for Denise and Chris Carnihan from a small coastal town in New Zealand. They then stumbled head-first into building and establishing their very own primary school in a large slum, opening with not fifty children as planned but 117. Within eighteen months the roll had grown to 380+ children and twelve staff. Denise talks passionately about her love for Africa and her beautiful African journey. She describes candidly the joys, the immense satisfaction, and the overwhelming drive needed to persevere, together with the enormous challenges, battles, and frustrations in establishing a project in a slum of Kenya, where communication and culture operate in extremes.